a major economic industry among american indian tribes is the public promotion and display of aspects of their cultural heritage in a range of tourist venues few do it better than the eastern band of the Cherokee whose homeland is the Qualla Boundary of North Carolina. This book presents the two faces of the Cherokee people: one is the public face that populates the powwows, dramatic presentations, museums, and myriad roadside craft locations; the other is the private face whose homecoming, Indian fairs, traditions, belief system, community strength, and cultural heritage are threatened by the very activities that put food on their tables.

Retailing in the new millennium stands as an exciting, complex, and critical sector of business in most developed as well as emerging economies. Today the retailing industry is being buffeted by a number of forces simultaneously: e.g., increasing competition within and across retailing formats, the growth of online retailing, the advent of radio frequency identification (RFID) technology, the explosion in customer level data availability, the global expansion of major retail chains like Wal-Mart and Metro Group, and so on. Making sense of it all is not easy, but of vital importance to retailing practitioners, analysts, and policymakers. With crisp and insightful contributions from some of the world's leading experts in retailing, Retailing in the 21st Century offers in one book a compendium of state-of-the-art, cutting-edge knowledge to guide successful retailing in the new millennium.

Plant Breeding Reviews presents state-of-the-art reviews on plant breeding and genetics covering horticultural, agronomic, and forestry crops, incorporating both traditional and molecular methods. The contributions are authored by world authorities, anonymously reviewed, and edited by Professor Jules Janick of Purdue University, USA. The series is an indispensable resource for crop breeders, plant scientists, and teachers involved in crop improvement and genetic resources. Initiated in 1983, Plant Breeding Reviews is published in the form of one or two volumes per year. Recently published articles include: epigenetics and plant breeding; enhancing crop gene pools with beneficial traits using wild relatives; coffee germplasm resources; genomics and breeding; molecular genetics and breeding for fatty acid manipulation in soybean; breeding southern highbush blueberries; development of fire blight resistance by recombinant DNA technology.

This volume explores culture change and persistence within a late seventeenth century Cherokee community in eastern Tennessee.
